

CCGC

CONTINENTAL CONSULTING
GROUP CORPORATION

BOB HODES

Strategic Advisor

hodes@ccgc.us
703.517.7226

Bob Hodes is a founding member of Continental Consulting Group Corporation (CCGC) as one of two original partners with Bob Seigle. A former Army Aviator, Bob finished his career working as Military Assistant to the Army's Acquisition Executive and Under Secretary of the Army in the Pentagon. Bob spent over a decade lobbying and developing business as VP for Bombardier Aerospace US Defense Programs before forming CCGC in 2000. He officially retired from CCGC in 2008 and has served as a Strategic Advisor ever since.

Navigating Your Path to Government Business

Experience Highlights:

CCGC, 2008 – Present

- Currently serves on an airport board, which he formed and organized, at the fastest growing commercial airport in West Virginia

CCGC, President, 2000-2008

- Responsible for $750 million in appropriations for international aerospace production, manufacturing, research and development
- Developed marketing and military equipment strategies which took companies with little US Army business to large Defense contracts

Bombardier Defense, 1986-2000

- Recognized industry leader for strategic partnerships and joint international business partnerships
- Developed a political strategy that netted over $400M in Congressional funding
- Directly responsible for the Army National Guard's acquired cargo aircraft

US Army, Retired, Lieutenant Colonel

- Combat veteran aviation commander in Vietnam and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for Heroism.
- Served under James Ambrose, the Army's UnderSecretary, for 3 years as his Military Assistant in the Pentagon